About us

The American Protestant Church (APC) Bonn is an English-speaking, multi-denominational, cross-cultural congregation of about 180 members representing over 30 countries and over 15 denominations. It includes people from the international business community, leaders in local government, workers from the United Nations, diplomats, military personnel, students and professors from the University of Bonn, as well as expatriates living in the area. Our mission is to call the English-speaking community to Christ and Christlikeness by serving their needs.

More information on the church can be found at www.apcbonn.de.
